

City is top place to leave

SHEFFIELD is one of the top areas in the UK for people wanting to emigrate, it was claimed today.

The Emigration Group has received nearly 10,000 enquiries in the last eight months and Sheffield is the company's second highest location after Manchester for emigration, representing almost 2.5 per cent of all enquiries in the UK.

Paul Arthur, director of The Emigration Group said: "Our company has experienced a huge volume of enquiries from Sheffield this year, 208 enquires in the last eight months which compared to our average enquiry rate of 78, is very high."

Australia and New Zealand are the most popular choices for emigrants, with Spain, France and the United States also favourites.

Paul added: "Many of the clients I advise are basically looking for a better life both for themselves and their children and they see emigration as a way of achieving this."
